

IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE DISTRICT OF DELAWARE

[PROPOSED] STIPULATED PROTECTIVE ORDER

Whereas, the parties to the above-captioned litigation (the “Litigation”) are each in the possession of confidential and highly confidential information (as defined herein) and such information is being sought in discovery;

Whereas, the parties agree that the production of information by each of them should take place subject to the provisions of a protective order, pursuant to Rule 26(c) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure; and

Whereas, the parties believe that the entry of a protective order will help facilitate any third-party discovery and address third-parties' concerns about the confidentiality of their own information;

It is hereby ORDERED that,

1. This Order governs the use and handling of documents, testimony, interrogatory responses, hearing transcripts and other information (other than information that is publicly known or available) designated as “Confidential” or “Highly Confidential,” including “Highly Confidential Source Code” or “Highly Confidential Pricing Information,” (collectively the “Protected Litigation Material”) by plaintiff Mobius Management Systems, Inc. or defendant

Acartus, Inc. (individually a “Party” and collectively the “Parties”) or by any third party to this litigation (either Party and all non-parties producing Protected Litigation Material are referred to as a “Producing Party”), pursuant to the provisions herein. This shall include all copies, excerpts, summaries, pleadings, declarations, affidavits, reports, briefs, motions, transcripts, other writings, or testimony given in any deposition or pre-trial hearing, which contains Protected Litigation Material. The handling of Protected Litigation Material at trial will be the subject of a separate discussion between the Parties and the Court to take place prior to the commencement of trial.

2. Except as otherwise set forth below, Protected Litigation Material shall be used and disclosed solely in connection with preparing for and conducting pre-trial, trial and appellate proceedings in this Litigation.

3. The Producing Party producing or disclosing Protected Litigation Material may designate it as either “Confidential” or “Highly Confidential,” including “Highly Confidential Source Code” or “Highly Confidential Pricing Information.” The “Confidential” designation shall be reserved for the Producing Parties’ non-public commercial or business information. The “Highly Confidential” designation shall be reserved for commercially sensitive agreements between any Producing Party and companies that are not a Party to the litigation, including any drafts thereof, non-public internal financial reports and pricing or planning information; and any trade secret or other sensitive commercial, research or technical information that the Producing Party believes in good faith should be afforded the highest level of confidentiality by the Court.

4. Where original documents are produced for inspection, the designation of “Confidential” or “Highly Confidential” shall be permitted by group of documents; provided, however, that all documents or groups of documents produced shall be produced as they are kept in the usual course of business. Once any such documents are selected for photocopying, however, the provisions of Paragraphs 5 and 8 below shall govern.

5. The Producing Party or its counsel may designate any documents or other tangible material as "Confidential" by placing on or affixing to it, in a manner that shall not interfere with its legibility, the notation "CONFIDENTIAL" on either the first page of the document, assuming that the document is bound in some manner, or on each page or part of the document or thing containing such "Confidential" information. The Producing Party or its counsel may designate any documents or other tangible material as "Highly Confidential" by placing on or affixing to it, in a manner that shall not interfere with its legibility, the notation "HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL" on either the first page of the document, assuming that the document is bound in some manner, or on each page or part of the document or thing containing such "Highly Confidential" information. If different copies of the same document are marked inconsistently as to the level of confidentiality, the Party that discovers such inconsistent marking shall immediately notify the other Party and/or the Producing Party, which shall then indicate in writing which level of confidentiality shall apply to the documents at issue. Any disputes regarding these designations shall be resolved pursuant to Paragraph 36 of this Order.

6. The Producing Party or its counsel may designate depositions or other testimony as "Confidential" or "Highly Confidential" by the following means:

a. stating orally on the record, with reasonable precision as to the affected testimony, on the day the testimony is given that this information is affected testimony, and the level of confidentiality shall also be stated on the record, either "Confidential" or "Highly Confidential;" or

b. sending written notice designating, by page and line, any portions of the transcript of the deposition or other testimony to be treated as "Confidential" or "Highly Confidential" within thirty (30) days after receipt of the transcripts, during which thirty (30) day period any such deposition or testimony shall be treated as "Highly Confidential."

7. Any transcript designated "Confidential" or "Highly Confidential" shall be bound separately and marked as including information that is "Confidential" or "Highly Confidential," respectively, and any transcript so marked shall be given to or shown to only those persons who would otherwise be permitted to view such "Confidential" or "Highly Confidential" material, respectively, pursuant to the terms of this Order.

8. A Producing Party who does not designate a document or testimony "Confidential" or "Highly Confidential" in accordance with Paragraphs 4, 5 or 6 may later designate such document "Confidential" or "Highly Confidential" in the manner set forth in those paragraphs. After such designation is made, that document shall be treated as "Confidential" or "Highly Confidential," respectively, unless the Court rules against such designation pursuant to Paragraph 36 below.

9. Absent written consent from the Producing Party or unless otherwise directed by the Court, Protected Litigation Material designated "Confidential," any copies thereof, and the information contained therein shall not be disclosed, given, shown or made available to anyone except:

- a. The Court (including Clerks and other Court personnel);
- b. The Parties, including their officers and employees to the extent necessary for the conduct of the Litigation, and their counsel of record, including legal staff and in-house counsel, and the clerical and litigation support personnel, such as secretaries, paralegals and document clerks, or other support staff, who are employed by such counsel and are working under the express direction of such counsel;

c. Court reporters who record deposition or other testimony in the Litigation;

d. Independent experts and consultants, including their administrative and clerical personnel, provided that disclosure is made solely for purposes of the Litigation and only after such expert/consultant signs the Confidentiality Agreement attached hereto as Exhibit A and has been approved to receive such information pursuant to Paragraph 11 below;

e. Outside photocopying, graphic production services or litigation support services employed by the parties or their counsel to assist in the Litigation, and computer service personnel performing duties in relation to a computerized litigation system; and

f. Any other person to whom the Parties agree in writing.

10. Absent written consent from the Producing Party or unless otherwise directed by the Court, Protected Litigation Material designated "Highly Confidential," any copies thereof, and the information contained therein shall not be disclosed, given, shown or made available to anyone except:

a. The Court (including Clerks and other Court personnel);

b. The Parties' outside counsel of record, including their clerical and litigation support personnel, such as secretaries, paralegals and document clerks, or other support staff who are employed by such counsel and are working under the express direction of such counsel, and the following in-house counsel (except that source code and pricing information designated as such by the producing party will not be provided to the receiving party's in-house counsel): for Acartus, Krish Gupta and William Clark; for Mobius, Andrew Sini.

c. Court reporters who record deposition or other testimony in the Litigation;

d. Independent experts and consultants, including their administrative and clerical personnel, provided that (i) disclosure is made solely for purposes of the Litigation and only after each such expert/consultant signs the Confidentiality Agreement attached hereto as Exhibit A and has been approved to receive such information pursuant to Paragraph 11 below, and (ii) disclosure of source code may be made solely to three outside independent experts and to outside counsel of record.

e. Outside photocopying, graphic production services or litigation support services employed by the parties or their counsel to assist in the Litigation, and computer service personnel performing duties in relation to a computerized litigation system; and

f. Any other person to whom the Parties agree in writing.

11. A party desiring to have "Confidential" or "Highly Confidential" information of another Producing Party disclosed to any person pursuant to Paragraphs 9(d) or 10(d) of this Order shall first give written notice to the Producing Party, who shall have five (5) days after such notice is given (plus three (3) days if notice is given by mail) to object in writing. The party desiring to disclose "Confidential" or "Highly Confidential" information to any such person shall provide the person's curriculum vitae and shall include the following information about such person in the written notice:

- § business address;
- § business title;
- § business or profession; and
- § any previous or current relationship (personal or professional) with any of the parties.

No "Confidential" or "Highly Confidential" information shall be disclosed to such person until after the expiration of the foregoing notice. If, however, during the notice period the party giving notice receives a written objection from the Producing Party, there shall be no disclosure of “Confidential” or “Highly Confidential” information to such person, except by Court order or written withdrawal of the objection. The Party or non-party objecting to disclosure of “Confidential” or “Highly Confidential” information to such person shall provide an explanation of the basis of its objection; consent to the disclosure of “Confidential” or “Highly Confidential” information to a proposed recipient shall not be withheld unreasonably.

12. Any materials, items, things and/or information produced by any party or non-party as part of discovery in this action may be designated by such party or non-party as “Highly Confidential - Pricing Information,” provided the materials so designated constitute commercially sensitive, non-public internal financial reports or pricing and planning information that the Producing Party believes in good faith should be afforded the highest level of confidentiality by the Court. Protected Litigation Material designated as “Highly Confidential - Pricing Information” shall be treated in accordance with “Highly Confidential” materials under this Order, except that materials designated “Highly Confidential - Pricing Information” will not be provided to the receiving party’s in-house counsel, including those in-house counsel identified in Paragraph 10 above.

13. Any materials, items, things, and/or information produced by any party or non-party as part of discovery in this action may be designated by such party or non-party as “Highly Confidential – Source Code Materials,” provided that the materials so designated (a) constitute, include, reflect, discuss or describe source code and (b) comprise “trade secret or other confidential research, development, or commercial information” within the meaning of Rule 26(c)(7), Fed. R. Civ. P. Except as provided in Paragraph 15 below, all materials, items, things, and/or information designated as “Highly Confidential – Source Code Materials” shall not be disclosed to or discussed with any person except:

(a) outside counsel of record in this matter for the non-designating party (including law firm personnel) (“Outside Counsel”).

(b) at any one time, no more than three (3) Independent Outside Experts retained by the non-designating party who are qualified to access “Highly Confidential” information under Paragraph 11 of the Protective Order, provided that such Independent Outside Experts (i) are not presently substantively involved in the prosecution of patents for or on behalf of Acartus or Mobius, and (ii) will not be substantively involved in the prosecution of patents for or on behalf of Acartus or Mobius during this litigation or for two years following the conclusion of the trial in this action (or the conclusion of the litigation, whichever is sooner);

(c) the Court and court personnel with a need to review such materials, items, things, and/or information for purposes of this matter;

(d) any court reporters or videographers retained to record and/or transcribe testimony in this action; and

(e) other persons only upon consent of the producing party or upon order of the Court.

(Collectively, the persons described above in Paragraphs 13(a) through 13(e) are hereinafter referred to as “Authorized Persons”).

Independent Outside Experts may be replaced for purposes of the numeric limit of Paragraph 13(b) above and the numeric limit set forth therein may be expanded upon good cause shown, either by written agreement or stipulation of the parties, or upon further order of the Court.

14. Prior to disclosure of any materials designated “Highly Confidential – Source Code Materials” to any Independent Outside Expert, each such person shall certify, in the form of Exhibit A attached to this Order, that he or she (i) is not presently substantively involved in the prosecution of patents for or on behalf of Acartus or Mobius, and (ii) will not be substantively involved in the prosecution of patents for or on behalf of Acartus or Mobius during this litigation or for two years following the conclusion of the trial in this action (or the conclusion of the litigation, whichever is sooner). In addition, an Independent Outside Expert may use and disclose materials, items, things, and/or information designated as “Highly Confidential – Source Code Materials” solely in connection with this litigation, and not for any business or other purpose whatsoever, including but not limited to the preparation and/or prosecution of any patent applications.

All materials, items, things, and/or information designated “Highly Confidential – Source Code Materials” shall be subject to all provisions applicable to materials designated “Highly Confidential” under the Protective Order, and subject to the additional restrictions set forth in Paragraphs 15-26 below.

15. A party may disclose materials, items, things, and/or information designated as “Highly Confidential – Source Code Materials” to a witness in the course of taking testimony (such as in deposition or at trial) only if the witness is a current employee of the producing party or an Independent Outside Expert qualified under Paragraph 13(b) above. Such disclosure shall be permitted only to the extent necessary to conduct the examination of the witness, and the witness shall not retain any copies of such materials.

16. No person other than an Authorized Person is permitted to create copies of materials, items, things, and/or information designated “Highly Confidential – Source Code Materials” by the producing party. The parties shall restrict the number of copies of such materials to that which is necessary for this lawsuit, and copies of such materials shall be provided only to those Authorized Persons with a need to know the content of such materials in order to perform his or her function related to this lawsuit. Any such copy must be created and maintained in accordance with the terms of Paragraphs 17, 18 and 19 below. Any copy transmitted to an Independent Outside Expert must be returned to Outside Counsel immediately upon replacement of such Independent Outside Expert pursuant to Paragraph 13 above.

17. Independent Outside Experts are permitted to create copies of materials, items, things, and/or information designated “Highly Confidential – Source Code Materials” solely for the purpose of including such materials in any expert report, declaration, or other document prepared for Outside Counsel. For purposes of this paragraph, simply loading such material onto a permitted computer and using such permitted computer to analyze such material shall not constitute impermissible copying. Printed copies of portions of materials designated “Highly Confidential – Source Code Materials” are permitted only as necessary to analyze the code for purposes of this matter or to reference it in depositions, court hearings, expert reports or court filings. Any printed copies shall be treated in accordance with this Order and shall be limited to only those portions of the materials designated “Highly Confidential – Source Code Materials” for which a printed copy is needed at the time. Any printed copies shall either be printed on yellow (or other non-white) color paper or each page shall be marked as “Highly Confidential – Source Code Materials.” Any printed copies shall be destroyed as soon as they are no longer needed.

18. Materials, items, things, and/or information designated “Highly Confidential – Source Code Materials” shall be maintained at the office of the Authorized Person to whom such materials have been produced in a secure location with restricted access, under lock and key, in such a manner as to prevent misappropriation of such materials. The Authorized Person shall be responsible for maintaining the confidentiality of such materials regardless of the physical storage location. Outside Counsel may remove materials designated as “Highly Confidential – Source Code Materials” from the identified secure location for use as an exhibit in a deposition or at a court hearing, provided that such Outside Counsel at all times exercises reasonable precautions to ensure that access to such materials is restricted to persons entitled to have such access.

19. "Highly Confidential – Source Code Materials" received by an Authorized Person in electronic form shall be subject to all of the following conditions:

a. All electronic copies of such materials must, except when in use, be password-protected and encrypted by using symmetric key encryption with a key length of at least 128-bits.

b. Summary or derivative works created on a computer as a result of any analysis of the materials (including expert reports, motions, memoranda and briefs) must, except when in use, be either (i) encrypted by using symmetric key encryption with a key length of at least 128-bits; or (ii) deleted and then wiped by overwriting such files with a random or pseudorandom pattern.

c. Authorized Persons shall use reasonable efforts to remove from a computer any intermediary or temporary files created on a computer as a result of any analysis of the materials, by deleting and then overwriting such files with a random or pseudorandom pattern. For purposes of this paragraph, "reasonable efforts" includes periodically running software that overwrites the free space (including the Microsoft Windows swap file, if applicable) on the computer's disk drive(s).

d. All such electronic copies shall be loaded and maintained on only one computer at the offices of the Authorized Person receiving such electronic copies, provided that such computer (i) is subject to the access restrictions set forth in Paragraph 18 above; and (ii) is either (a) not connected to any computer network, or (b) protected by network firewalls that protect against any unauthorized access to such electronic copies.

20. When an Authorized Person is required to encrypt materials pursuant to Paragraph 19 above, such encryption may be accomplished by using PGP 8.0 or other encryption software that permits symmetric key encryption with a key length of at least 128-bits. When an Authorized Person is required to overwrite files or free space pursuant to Paragraph 19 above, such overwriting may be accomplished by using PGP Wipe, Eraser, BC Wipe, or other software that can be used to overwrite files with a random or pseudorandom pattern.

21. Outside Counsel may transmit materials designated "Highly Confidential – Source Code Materials" to another Authorized Person by e-mail or overnight courier, provided that (a) such materials are transmitted only in electronic form and are encrypted in accordance with Paragraph 19(a) above; and (b) the encryption password required to access the designated materials is not included in the message or package containing such materials. Further, if such material is transmitted by overnight courier, Outside Counsel shall obtain and maintain a delivery confirmation from the overnight courier.

22. Outside Counsel shall maintain a log identifying each Authorized Person (except Outside Counsel) that has been furnished with any materials that have been designated as "Highly Confidential – Source Code Materials" by the producing party. The log shall include the name of the Authorized Person, a precise description of the materials provided, the date the materials were delivered to the Authorized Person, the address to which the materials were delivered to the Authorized Person, the method by which the materials were delivered to the Authorized Person, the location at which the materials are maintained by the Authorized Person, and the date on which the person returned the materials to Outside Counsel. This log shall be made available to the producing party upon request.

23. At the final conclusion of this action (including any appeals) and unless the Court otherwise orders, any materials designated "Highly Confidential – Source Code Materials,” any copies of such materials, and all work product reflecting such materials, shall be returned to the producing party or, in the alternative, such materials and any copies thereof shall be certified in writing to have been destroyed. Outside Counsel and all Authorized Persons who have obtained or otherwise been exposed to any materials designated “Highly Confidential – Source Code Materials” shall provide to the producing party a certification, signed under penalty of perjury, that no copies of any such materials to be returned or destroyed have been retained.

24. Any person obtaining information from Protected Litigation Material designated “Confidential” or “Highly Confidential” may not divulge that information to anyone who would not be permitted to have the information under the provisions of this Order. Except as otherwise provided for in Paragraphs 27 and 35 below, neither the Protected Litigation Material designated “Confidential” or “Highly Confidential” nor the contents thereof shall be used for any business, commercial or competitive purposes whatsoever.

25. Any person who is permitted to view Protected Litigation Material pursuant to this Order shall be asked to read this Order and shall be apprised by counsel that he or she is bound by the terms hereof.

26. The recipient of any Protected Litigation Material that is provided pursuant to this Order shall maintain it in a secure and safe area and shall exercise due and proper care with respect to its storage, custody and use.

27. Nothing in this Order shall prevent any Producing Party from disclosing its own Protected Litigation Material produced by it, whether or not also produced by the other Party, as it deems appropriate, and any such disclosure shall not be subject to Paragraphs 24 and 25 above and shall not be deemed a waiver of any other Party’s rights or obligations under the Order.

28. The Parties shall confer at or before the time their objections to trial exhibits are due to be served on the opposing Party regarding the use of "Confidential" or "Highly Confidential" Protected Litigation Material at trial and agree to present to the Court any disputes regarding the use of any exhibits containing "Confidential" or "Highly Confidential" Protected Litigation Material at trial.

29. Protected Litigation Material shall not be copied or reproduced for use in the Litigation except to the extent such copying or reproduction is reasonably necessary to the conduct of the Litigation, and such copies or reproductions shall be subject to the terms of this Order. If the duplication process by which copies or reproductions of Protected Litigation Material are made does not preserve the confidentiality designations that appear in the original of the documents, all such copies or reproductions shall be designated in the manner set forth in Paragraph 5 above.

30. Complete or partial copies of Protected Litigation Material and summaries, digests, analyses, reports or other documents prepared from or containing Protected Litigation Material bearing the designations specified in Paragraph 3 above shall be treated as "Confidential" or "Highly Confidential" Protected Litigation Material, as designated, under this Order.

31. If Protected Litigation Material designated "Confidential" or "Highly Confidential," or quotations from or references to such material, are to be included in papers filed with or otherwise disclosed to the Court or in oral argument to the Court, such papers or the transcripts of such oral argument shall plainly state on the first page of any bound or stapled document "Confidential – Subject to the Protective Order," or "Highly Confidential – Subject to the Protective Order," or words to similar effect, and shall be filed in a sealed envelope on which shall be endorsed the caption of this action, and a statement substantially in the following form:

“This envelope contains documents or things that are the subject of a Protective Order of this Court. This envelope shall neither be opened nor its contents revealed except by Order of the Court.” Any Producing Party may ask the Court to keep such papers or the transcripts of such argument under seal. Unless the Court denies the request, such papers or transcripts shall not be disclosed to any person who is not permitted to view such materials pursuant to the terms of this Order.

32. Inadvertent production of documents, things or information subject to the attorney-client privilege or work-product immunity (despite the Producing Parties’ reasonable efforts to prescreen such documents and information prior to production) does not waive the attorney-client privilege or work product immunity if a request for return of such documents or information is made promptly after the Producing Party learns of its inadvertent production.

33. Should any information designated “Confidential” or “Highly Confidential,” any copies or summaries thereof, or the contents of the information be disclosed in any manner, through inadvertence or otherwise, to any persons not authorized to receive them under this Order, then the Party responsible for the unauthorized disclosure shall use its best efforts to obtain the return of such information and bind such person to the terms of this Order and shall (a) promptly provide such person a copy of this Order, (b) use its best efforts to cause such person to acknowledge in a written statement, in the form attached hereto as Exhibit A, that he or she has read the Order and agrees to be bound by the terms thereof, and provide such written statement to the Producing Party, and (c) identify such person immediately to the Producing Party.

34. By this Order, the Parties do not waive any right to object to any discovery request, or to the admission of evidence on any ground, or to seek any further protective order, or to seek relief from the Court from any provision of this Order by application on notice on any grounds.

35. Nothing herein shall be construed as limiting the Parties from using or disclosing any information that is in the public domain or that, subsequent to the disclosure, becomes part of the public domain other than by an act or violation of the terms of this Protective Order. Nor shall this Protective Order be construed as limiting the Parties from using or disclosing any information designated “Confidential” or “Highly Confidential” that was acquired by means other than discovery in this Litigation.

36. If any Party objects to the designation of any Protected Litigation Material as “Confidential” or “Highly Confidential,” the Party shall first state the objection by letter to the Producing Party. The Parties agree to confer in good faith by telephone or in person within ten (10) days of such notice to resolve the dispute respecting the designation of Protected Litigation Materials under this Order. If the Parties are unable to resolve such dispute, any Party may thereafter move to have this Court rule on the dispute over the designation. The Party that designates the material as “Confidential” or “Highly Confidential” shall bear the burden of proving that the designation is appropriate. Until the Court rules on such dispute, the Protected Litigation Material in question shall continue to be treated as “Confidential” or “Highly Confidential,” as designated.

37. A copy of this Order shall be included in the service of any subpoena for documents directed to any non-party.

38. Individuals who receive Protected Litigation Material produced in the Litigation agree to subject themselves to the jurisdiction of the United States District Court for the District of Delaware for the purposes of enforcement of the Order. The United States District Court for the District of Delaware shall retain jurisdiction to enforce the Order even after termination of this Litigation.

39. Within sixty (60) days of the conclusion of the Litigation, by judgment, appeal or otherwise, all Protected Litigation Material designated “Confidential” or “Highly Confidential,” all copies, digests or summaries thereof, and any other documents containing any such Protected Litigation Material, shall be returned to counsel for the Producing Party or destroyed, except that counsel may retain their work product and a single copy of each court filing, trial or hearing transcript and exhibit, and deposition exhibit, provided said retained documents will continue to be treated as provided in this Order. If a Party chooses to destroy Protected Litigation Material, counsel for the Party shall certify as to the date, the method of destruction and the bates range of such Protected Litigation Material, and transmit such certification to opposing counsel within 14 days of the completion of destruction.

40. The obligations and duties arising under this Order and under any acknowledgment or agreement pursuant thereto shall be effective immediately and shall survive the termination of this action.

41. In the event anyone shall violate or threaten to violate any terms of this Order, the Parties agree to confer in good faith by telephone or in person, within ten (10) days of the aggrieved Party gaining knowledge of the alleged violation or potential violation, to resolve such violation (or potential violation) of the terms of this Order. If the Parties are unable to resolve the dispute, the aggrieved Party may thereafter move the Court to obtain relief against any such person or entity.

42. The parties agree that, pending approval by the Court, this Stipulated Supplemental Protective Order shall be effective as if approved and, specifically, that any violation of its terms shall be subject to the same sanctions and penalties as if this Stipulated Protective Order had been entered by the Court.

43. The Parties may modify the provisions of this Order at any time by written stipulation endorsed by the Court.

CONFIDENTIALITY AGREEMENT

1. I have read and understand the terms and restrictions of the Stipulated Protective Order entered in this action by the United States District Court for the District of Delaware, in the above-captioned action (the "Order"). I understand the provisions of the Order, and I understand the responsibilities and obligations the Order imposes on persons viewing the litigation material which is subject to the Order ("the Protected Litigation Material"). I understand that any violation of the terms of the Order may constitute contempt of a court order. In accordance with the Order, so as to permit me to view the Protected Litigation Material, or produce the Protected Litigation Material, which is subject to the Order, I hereby agree to be bound by all of its provisions and terms.

I further agree to submit to the jurisdiction of the United States District Court for the District of Delaware for the purposes of enforcing my compliance with the Order.

2. I shall not use or disclose to others, except in accordance with the Order, any Protected Litigation Material. I understand that, if I fail to abide by the terms of the Order, I shall be subject to sanctions by way of contempt of Court, separate legal and equitable recourse by the adversely affected Producing Party, or other appropriate relief.

_____ (initials) I am not substantively involved in the prosecution of patents for or on behalf of Acartus, Inc. or Mobius Management Systems, Inc., and I agree to refrain from substantive involvement in the prosecution of patents for or on behalf of Acartus, Inc. or Mobius Management Systems, Inc. during this litigation and for two years following the conclusion of the trial in this action (or the conclusion of this litigation, whichever is sooner).
